Former Roscoe Boy's Daughter Central Figure In Racy New York Divorce Trial

HEIRESS TO MILLIONS PLAINTIFF IN CASE

Husband, Aurel Batonyi, Is Charged with Having Too many Affinities—Many Witnesses.

New York and the society of the east are all agog over a racy scandal in which Coshocton county also has a minor interest.

The actors in the affair are Aurel Batonyi and his wife, who is the daughter of Millionaire Frank Work; and Frank Work many years ago was a clerk in a general store in Roscoe. That was back in the thirties and forties when Roscoe was the big trading center of eastern Ohio. Work went from Roscoe to New York and made millions.

Is he happier with his millions and troubles, than he would have been living a peaceful life in Roscoe?

New York, Oct. 19.—Before Justice O'Gorman and a jury in the supreme court the suit for absolute divorce brought by Mrs. Frances Work Batonyi against Aurel Batonyi, the celebrated whelp, went to trial. With the exception of a witness of minor importance the plaintiff's counsel, William M. K. Olcott, and James Henry Work, her cousin, introduced all their evidence, and just before adjournment the defense's case was opened. At the opening of the trial Mr. Olcott announced that of the four women named in the complaint two of them, Esther Leigh or Lee and Nellie Shakespeare, had been eliminated, leaving the allegations standing against Lucille Brabant, or Brevaine, whose true name is Mrs. Beatrice Dreyfuss, and Margaret Allen, known also as Mrs. Lawrence.

Up to a few days ago the plaintiff was hopeful of obtaining a deposition from Beatrice Brevaine in spite of the fact that she has kept out of this jurisdiction since she knew she was wanted as a witness, but both Mr. Olcott and Mrs. Work told the court that a lawyer for Mrs. Brevaine Dreyfuss, who had promised to get a deposition from her, had finally said that it was not forthcoming. A deposition from the other alleged co-respondents was read, in which Miss Allen declared that she could not have been guilty of misconduct with Batonyi because she never saw him that she knew of.

Divorced From Englishman. Mrs. Batonyi, who secured a divorce from her first husband, Hon. Burke Roche of England, some years ago, did not reach the courtroom until the case was well under way, but

FOX CHASE AT KILLBUCK THURSDAY

About one hundred foxhunters from all over this section of the state will attend the meeting of the Central Ohio Sportsmen's Assn., at Killbuck Thursday of this week. About 150 dogs are expected. Money prizes will be given for the different events and the big drag race will be one of the features. The climax to the day's sport will be the big chase for a live fox over the surrounding hills Thursday night. All the dogs will be expected to participate. The country has been divided into districts and the dogs will be assigned to the various districts. J. L. Moore who is treasurer of the association, was in town Tuesday. He anticipates one of the best meetings the association has ever held.

OLIVE BRANCH WAVES OVER FISHER HOME

Dove of Peace Flutters in and Divorce Petition in Probate Court is Dismissed.

The hatchet has been buried and all is once more peace and harmony in the family of Simon Fisher. Some months ago it will be remembered Simon applied for divorce from his wife Linnie Fisher and the case for a while was very sensational. Not many weeks ago Linnie, while in a morose mood followed a fiery interview with Simon attempted to commit suicide in her lonely rooms in the Broder building on Hickory-st. by swallowing a large quantity of morphine. Linnie, through the efforts of physicians, pulled through and then repentance set in and frequent interviews were arranged and as a result of these interviews Simon filed a motion in probate court Tuesday morning to have the divorce proceedings dismissed and Judge Ashman immediately dismissed the case and allowed the man and wife to go in peace.

Batonyi went in and took a seat beside his counsel.

Mr. Olcott told the jury that much of the evidence against Batonyi was circumstantial, but said he thought it was conclusive of Batonyi's misconduct with Margaret Allen and Beatrice Brevaine. He said that the allegations concerning Margaret Allen were relative to Batonyi's visit to her on the night of Dec. 19, 1907, when the man with whom she is living as her husband was away. The alleged misconduct with Beatrice Brevaine was on March 4 or 5, 1908, while the two were riding in a taxicab between Broadway and Forty-seventh street and St. Nicholas avenue and One Hundred and Ninety-fifth street, between the hours of 8 p. m. and 1 a. m.

Eugene Arcouet, a taxicab driver, was the first witness. He told of Batonyi's long ride in the taxicab with Mme. Brevaine and about a stop at a drug store.

George F. Spaeth, who runs the drug store in question, said that Batonyi came into the store on the night in question and got a glass of vichy with spirits of ammonia. Just as Batonyi was leaving the store to take the vichy and ammonia to some one outside, a young woman entered and Batonyi said: "Why did you come in here? I was going to take this out to you."

Woman's Hair Disheveled. "The young woman's hair was coming down on one side and over her forehead," continued the witness, "and she, woman-like, was trying to put it back. She asked for some hairpins, but we did not sell them. Then she drank the vichy and ammonia."

The druggist said that the woman appeared to be nervous, and stated that when she got into the taxicab he noticed that the curtain was drawn to cover the glass. Mrs. Batonyi entered just then, and Mr. Olcott asked if she was the woman in the cab. The druggist said she was not.

Harry A. Swinton and Adam F. Haupt, private detectives, told of watching the house where Margaret Allen lived. They said they were there on Dec. 19, 1907, from 7:30 a. m. to 12:30 a. m. the next morning. They saw Batonyi at 7:15 p. m., they said, but he had not come out when they left. Clarence Bambray, the negro elevator runner in the house, testified that he took Batonyi up to Miss Allen's room on the third floor that night and that he did not see Batonyi go away before late that night.

MOHAWK SCHOOL CASE ARGUED

The Mohawk school case was heard before the county commissioners Tuesday afternoon with Capt. E. Z. Hayes of Warsaw representing the petitioners and R. L. Donley of this city representing the school board. The petitioners are bringing the case because of the fact that their children are not given transportation to and from school. As the Age goes to press the lawyers are arguing the question after five witnesses had been called.

NORMAN GETS CONTRACT FOR DENMAN FILL

T. J. Norman and son were given the contract for the building of the protection at the Denman fill on the south side of the Denman bridge by the county commissioners Tuesday morning. Seven bids were received and Norman's was low at $938.20. The other bids received were: Geo. J. Bock & Son, $986.00; Kissner Construction Co., of Massillon, $1020; E. M. Felumlee, $1013.50; Clark and Medley $1061.50; J. H. Henderson $1103.50; Howard Bucklew, $1168.40.

COURT UPHOLDS JOHN SULLIVAN

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 19.—Supreme court decided that John Sullivan, appointed by Harmon as the legal member Ohio railroad commission, ruling against J. C. Morris. The validity of the state automobile law was upheld.

DEMOCRATS HAVE VERY BAD SPLIT

COLUMBUS, Oct. 19.—Democrats at the state capital are incensed over the interview Harvey Garber gave out in New York that it would be a hard job to re-elect Judson Harmon Governor of Ohio. The Garber-Harmon split is more pronounced here today than for months and the fight that is sure to follow will knock Democracy's hopes into a cocked hat. Many Democrats over the state resent the attitude of the governor in making his appointments, wherein he ignored Democratic leaders from every district in the state.

WILL SUBMIT $30,000 BOND ISSUE TO VOTERS

Night School will open next Monday night—Music Director not Decided Upon.

At the meeting of the school board Monday evening the members decided to submit a bond issue of $30,000, at the next election, for the new ward school building.

Prof. Bryant announced to the board that the night school will open next Monday night. Prof. Harner of Springfield was officially hired by the board as assistant instructor at the high school. He fills the vacancy left by the resignation of Prof. Adkins, of Ottawa. The matter of hiring a new director of music was not brought up at the meeting.

An admission of 15 cents will be charged adults who wish to attend the night school but the younger students will be welcomed free.

PRESTON CHILD FELL FROM THIRD STORY OF HOTEL BUT LIVES

Word was received today by James Preston that his nephew, little Edward Preston, had fallen from the third story of a hotel in Wichita, Kansas, and almost killed. The telegram Saturday simply stated that the child was in a critical condition and details were not received until today. The child is getting along as well as could be expected and hopes are entertained for its recovery. A dispatch from Wichita gives the following account of the accident: While trying to locate his ring, which he had dropped, little 3 year old Edward E. Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Preston of Chicago, fell from the window sill of room 61

HAS NO MORE USE FOR THE DEADLY HATPIN

The deadly big hat will undoubtedly soon, or later come under the jurisdiction of the court. Take a look at Jim McDowell's nose. Sunday James was coming out of church and got sandwiched in between three or four of these immense fall styles of hat, where mammoth hat pins are poked through in various directions. A lady turned to speak to her companion, and the point of her hat pin, sticking out of her head piece, scratched deeply across the end of the proboscis of James, inflicting a painful and ugly scratch that he will wear for some weeks. He declares he is in favor of bonnets, held on by strings tied under the chin.

Davis May Lie In Jail Till Summer

Trial will Probably not come until the Spring Term of Common Pleas Court, Mr. Wheeler states.

Will Davis, who is charged with the murder of his father, Eli Davis, will probably spend Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Years and Easter, in the county jail according to a statement made Tuesday morning by T. H. Wheeler, the attorney who will assist Atty. Glenn and Reasoner, in the defending of the boy. Mr. Wheeler said Tuesday that he did not look for the trial to come until the spring term of court.

Mr. Wheeler gave as his reason for the long delay, the many pleas which will be entered into by the defense and which will occupy considerable time. The present motion to quash the indictment will likely take many days to decide upon after the briefs of the attorneys are handed in. After the decision is returned the defense will file their demurrer which will again take up considerable time and for these and several other

SUBURBAN TRAIN WILL BE PERMANENT FIXTURE

Wheeling Officials After Investigation Decide that the Service Will More than Pay Expenses.

The Wheeling suburban train running between Coshocton and Conesville will not be discontinued as was announced about two weeks ago. Agent Eckert received word Monday night that they would not remove the train and that it would be allowed to run the same as usual with no changes. That the train remains here is largely due to the efforts of the various coal miners down the line who got after the Wheeling Co. when they first made the announcement that the train would be discontinued and talked them into letting them have the train for just one more week and to have the proceeds of the service figured into a different method, for the coal people felt sure that if figured right the train would not only keep up its expense but would show a profit to the company. And one week after granting the request of a week's continuance the company comes with the announcement that they will let the service "stick."

The suburban train is a splendid thing for the workmen of Coshocton whose duties lie in the southern part of the town and when the Clow factory finally gets started it will be invaluable to the unnumbered employees who will undoubtedly make their home in the city proper.

1200 FISH WILL BE PUT IN BASIN

Dr. Marshall received through the state fish and game warden about 1200 fish which will be turned loose in the middle basin. The fish are bass and cat shipped from London, O.

REVOLUTION IS FORMIDABLE

GUATEMALA CITY, GUATEMALA Oct. 19.—Reports in circulation here indicate that the revolution in Nicaragua is a formidable one. Guatemala, however, is tranquil and the government, it is announced, will observe strict neutrality.

VALLEY "FLYER" WILL COME AGAIN

Tip Received That Three New Trains Will Hit Coshocton After November 7

From authentic reports Coshocton is to have restored the old Waltham Valley Flyer, which flourished last summer between Mansfield and Newcomerstown together with a new accommodation train running between Pittsburg and Columbus and a through train. No definite announcement has been made by the officials of the Pennsylvania company however but it is generally known that in the new schedule which the officials of the company are preparing to go into effect Nov. 7, these two trains are among the ones that are receiving much of the discussion. A through train running from Pittsburg to Columbus stopping only at Newcomerstown will also be put on at that time.

The most important and the one which will receive the highest applause from Coshocton business men is the restoration of the Wally Flyer. Ever since its abandonment several months ago the business men and trades people in general have cried for a local to run up the Waltham valley and east on the main line.

Agent Webber has been very influential in getting the restoration of the valley local.

The new train to be installed is the accommodation that is now running between Pittsburg and Denison, and it is said that it will be extended from Denison on through to Columbus thus adding greatly to Coshocton's railroad facilities. The time of the train is not known but it will probably leave in the morning coming back in the afternoon at a reasonable hour.

The through train that is planned will stop only at Newcomerstown and is for the purpose of taking care of people along the southern part of the state who now have to travel in a round about way over the B. & O. through the western part of the state to get any kind of accommodations. This new train will enable them to go to Newcomerstown on the C. & M. where they can catch the fast train and make their traveling much more convenient.

Definite announcement of the installation of these trains is looked for in a very few days.

Alliance Will Look Into Politics

The German-American Alliance held a large and very enthusiastic meeting Monday evening, 132 members being present. A great deal of the time was devoted to the discussion of the concert and dance to be given Friday evening, Oct. 22. Mr. Vaupel is chairman of the committee on arrangements, and will announce the musical program to be given, the latter part of the week.

The local political situation was discussed and a meeting of the executive board of the Alliance will be held this week, to decide what the organization will do, as an organization. The affair rests in the hands of the committee of which Mr. Haverbeck is chairman. After their meeting, a general meeting of the Alliance will be called, to be held probably, next week.

Why Do Men DRINK?

When you stop to think of the terrible results which come to men who indulge to excess in intoxicating beverages, well may you ask, Why do men drink? The fact simply stated is "A victim to the Drink Habit can no more resist liquor than a man with a gun can stop shooting." Drunkenness is a disease and must be treated as such. The wives and mothers of those who drink in excess will be glad to know there is a remedy which will restore their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Many thousands of grateful women praise Orin for its benefits. Orin has been known to effect a cure after all other means failed.

Paxson & Pottier, 21 West Park-St. Brite Motel, tell about a case of drunkenness of 25 years standing. Read what they say: "A gentleman well known to me who has been a hard drinker for twenty-five years stated he had been entirely cured by Orin. We consider this a remarkable case, as this gentleman has been treated three different times at a well-known sanatorium. This and other cases that have come to our knowledge give us confidence in our preparation and it gives us pleasure to recommend it to those needing a reliable cure for intemperance."

Orin is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. Orin No. 2, in pill form is for those who wish to cure themselves. Orin costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for Free Orin Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to Orin Co., 456 Orin Building, Washington, D. C. Orin is for sale in this city by C. E. Anderson, 404 Main-st.

They know Orin is a reliable and efficacious remedy for drunkenness, and they will not offer you a substitute.

SHIP ATTACKED BY BUCCANEERS

Crew of Rakish Craft Attempts to Board Steamer.

REPULSED WITHOUT A SHOT

Tell Tale of Wee and Say They Seek Provisions—Captain of Rowanmore Becomes Suspicious and Threatens to Shoot First Man Who Steps on Deck—Other Vessels Report Appearance of Suspicious Looking Schooner in Spanish Main.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 19.—Officers and the crew of the British steamship Rowanmore, Captain Phelan, have reported to the collector of the port that an attempt had been made to board the vessel by a piratical crew. A detailed report of the affair has been wired to the department at Washington, and it is urged that the government dispatch cutters or other armed vessels to the Bahama Islands in quest of the strange bark.

According to the report, the Rowanmore, bound from Liverpool to Galveston, encountered the strange schooner about dusk on the evening of Oct. 6, about 15 miles northeast of Cayfort shoal light, to the east of Florida. The schooner was flying the distress signal, the Greek flag at half mast, and when the British ship came alongside four men on the deck of the rakish craft attempted to board the vessel. Captain Phelan stopped them and demanded to know what was wanted. The captain of the schooner said he wanted to leave the schooner, which was disabled, but the captain of the Rowanmore could see the schooner was in good condition. The leader of the schooner, the name of which could not be made out, then said he was short of food for 10 men and Captain Phelan offered to send food without having any of the schooner's crew come aboard.

Other Heads Appear.
About this time other heads appeared above the cabin of the schooner, and in the dim light the schooner swung around aft of the ship and three men from the strange craft, whose name the leader said was the Lion Face, attempted to climb the anchor chains of the steamship. The crew of the vessel was summoned and Captain Phelan and officers, armed with guns, threatened to shoot the first man who came close. The yawl, on which were the three who had attempted to board the steamer, and two others, put back to the schooner. The commander of the Lion Face swore fiercely at his own crew for their failure and at the British vessel as the schooner ran to cover among the small isles.

It is said several other ships have recently reported strange schooners approaching vessels off the Bahama, but this is the first real attempt made to board a steamer.

LADY COOK ARRIVES TO RUN CAMPAIGN

English Suffragette Given Meticulous Reception in New York.

New York, Oct. 19.—Lady Cook, the English suffragette, formerly Tennessee Claflin, arrived on the liner Celtic and was accorded a welcome that for noise and enthusiasm was the equal of any witnessed in this city for many a year.

It was indeed as if every passenger on the Celtic was a suffragette sympathizer. The crowd on deck got so excited over "The Star Spangled Banner," "Dixie" and "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town" that they cheerfully swelled the tugboat chorus. The crowd on the deck who had come down to say how do you do to personal friends joined the shouts of the suffragettes who constituted the shore force. A group of enthusiastic young men for the ballot endeavored to bear the white-haired pioneer to the street on their shoulders.

In speaking of her plans, Lady Cook said: "I have more faith in President Taft than I had in his predecessor. He does not think that he is the only important thing in the country and he has a judicial mind. I think he will listen to reason and that he realizes that the time has come when the women of America must be reckoned with. Therefore, I am determined to go to Washington and have it out with him. I shall probably take a house there in December and shall start a campaign similar to the one that my sister and I carried on in the '70s."

There was plenty of time now to carry out his plan, which was to catch the Orient express at the Kronsburg station and present himself to the Mowbrays in the train later. As to what would happen afterward, it was beyond planning, but Leopold knew that, the girl had loved him, and he hoped that he would have Lady Mowbray on his side.

The only way of reaching Kronsburg from Schloss Lyndenberg was by road. There was no railway connection between the two places. The town and the castle were separated by a short eight miles, and until checked by traffic in the suburbs the six horse-power car could cover a mile in less than two minutes.

Unfortunately, however, police regulations were strict, and of this Leopold could not complain, as he had approved them himself. Once he was stopped and would certainly not have been allowed to proceed had he not revealed himself as the emperor, the owner of the one unnumbered car in Rhæna. As it was, he had suffered a delay of five minutes, and just as he was congratulating himself on the goodness of his time, a loud horn to the left and a loud report as of a pistol shot gave warning of a passenger.

But there was not a moment to waste on repairs. Leopold drove on to the mine, only to acknowledge presently the truth of an old proverb: "The more haste the less speed."

Delayed by a torn and flapping tire, the car arrived at the big central station of Kronsburg only five minutes before 12. Leopold dashed in, careless whether he was recognized or not, and was surprised at the absence of the crowd which usually thronged the platform before the departure of the most important train of the day.

"Is the Orient express late?" he asked of an inspector to whom he was but a man among other men.

"No, sir. Just on time. Went out five minutes ago."

"But it isn't due to start till 12!"

"Summer time table, sir. Autumn time table takes effect today, the 1st of October. Orient express departure changed to 11:50."

An unreasoning rage against fate boiled in the emperor's breast. He scolded the country, yet everything in it seemed to conspire in a plot to wreck his dearest desires.

For a few seconds he stood speechless, feeling as if he had been dashed against a brick wall and there were no way of getting around it. For two seconds were but few for Leopold was not a man of slow decisions.

His first step was to inquire the name of the town at which the Orient express stopped next. In three hours, he learned, it would reach Kronsburg, the last station on the Rhæna side of the frontier.

His first thought on hearing this was to engage a special and follow. But even in these days there is much real tape entangled with railway regulations in Rhæna. It soon appeared that it would be quicker to take the next train to Kronsburg, which was due to leave in half an hour and would arrive only an hour later than the Orient express.

Leopold's heart was chilled, but he shook off despondency and would not be discouraged. Telephoning to the hotel where the Mowbrays had been stopping, he learned that they had gone. Then he wrote out a telegram.

Mess. Helen Mowbray, Traveling From Kronsburg to Paris by Orient Express. Care of Station Master at Felgarde. I implore you to meet me at the train at Felgarde.

garden and walk for me. Am following it all day. Will arrive Felgarde on how after you and hope to find you at Leopold's.

So far the morning was simple. He had signified his intention and expressed his wish, which would have been more than enough to assure the accomplishment of his purpose had he been dealing with a subject. Unfortunately, however, Helen Mowbray was not a subject and had exhibited no sign of submission. It was therefore futile to prophesy whether or not she would choose to grant his request.

Revolving the pros and cons, he was forced to conclude that she probably would not grant it unless he had some new argument to bring forward. Yet what had he to urge that he had not already urged twice over? What could he say at this eleventh hour which would not only induce her to avail his coming at Felgarde, but justify him in making a last appeal when he came to explain it in person?

As he stood pen in hand suddenly he found himself recalling a fairy story which he had never tired of reading in his childhood. Under the disguise of fancy it was a lesson against vacillation, and he had often said to himself as a boy that when he grew up he would not like the prince of the story, miss a gift of the gods through weak hesitation.

The petty legend in his mind had for a hero a young prince who went abroad to seek his fortune and received from one of the fates to whom he paid a visit three magic citrons, which he must cut open by the side of a certain fountain. He obeyed his instructions, but when from the first citron sprang an exquisite fairy maiden, demanding a drink of water, the young man lost his presence of mind. While he sat staring the lovely lady vanished, and with a second experiment it was the same. Only the third citron remained of the fate's squandered gifts, and when the prince cut it in half the maiden who appeared was so much more beautiful than her sisters that in adoring wonder he almost lost her as he had lost the others.

"My love is on the rim of the last citron now," Leopold said to himself. "Let me not lose the one chance I have left."

Last night he had believed that there would not be room in a man's heart for more love than his held for Helen Mowbray; but, realizing to the full how great was the danger of losing her, he found that his love had grown beyond reckoning.

He had thought it a sacrifice to suggest a meretricious marriage. Now a voice seemed to say in his ear: "The price you offered was not enough. Is love worth all to you or not?" And he answered, "It is worth all. I will offer all, yet not count it a sacrifice. That is love, and nothing less is love."

A white flash broke before his eyes like a meteor bursting, and the voice in his ear spoke words that sent a flame through his veins.

"I will do it," he said. "Who is there among my people who will dare say 'No' to their emperor's 'Yes'? I will make a new law. I will be a law unto myself."

His face, that had been pale, was flushed. He tore up the unfinished telegram and wrote another, which he signed "Leo, the Chamois Hunter." Then, when he had handed in the telegram and paid, there was but just time to buy his ticket, engage a whole first class compartment for himself and dash into it before his train was due to start.

As it moved slowly out of the big station Leopold's brain rang with the noble music of his great resolve. He could see nothing, think of nothing, but that. His arms ached to clasp his love. His lips, cheated last night, already felt her kisses, for she would give them now, and she would give herself. He was treading the path of an empire underfoot in the hope of a future with her, and every throb of the engine was taking him nearer to the threshold of that future.

But such moments of supreme exaltation come rarely in a lifetime. The heart of man or woman could not beat on for long with such wild music for accompaniment, and so it was that as the moments passed the song of the emperor's blood fell to a minor key.

He thought passionately of Virginia, but he thought of his country as well and tried to weigh the effect upon others of the thing that he was prepared to do. There was no one on earth whom Leopold of Rhæna feared, but there was one to whom he owed much, one whom it would be grievous to offend.

In his father's day one man, old even then, had built upon the foundations of a tragic past a great and prosperous nation. This man had been to Leopold what his father had never been and, without the magic power of inspiring warm affection, had instilled respect and gratitude in the breast of an enthusiastic boy.

"Poor old Von Breistein!" the emperor sighed. "The country is his idol—the country with all the old traditions. He'll feel this break sorely. I'd spare him if I could. But I can't live my life for him."

He sighed again and looked up, frowning at a sudden sound which meant intrusion.

Like a spirit called from the deep, there stood the chancellor at the door between Leopold's compartment and the one adjoining.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

LEOPOLD HEART was dressed in the long double-breasted gray overcoat and the soft gray hat in which all snapshots (two others had ever been taken) showed the chancellor of Rhæna.

At sight of the emperor off came the famous hat, baring the bald dome of the fine old head, fringed with hair of curiously mingled black and white.

"Good day, your majesty," he said, with no sign of surprise in his voice or face.

The train rocked going around a curve, and it was with difficulty that the chancellor kept his footing. But he stood rigidly erect, his supporting himself in the doorway until the emperor, with more politeness than enthusiasm, invited him to enter and be seated.

"I'm glad you're well enough to travel, chancellor," said Leopold. "We had none too encouraging an account of you from Captain von Breistein."

"I travel because you travel, your majesty," replied the old man. "It is kind of you to tolerate me here, and I appreciate it."

Now they sat facing each other, and the young man, fighting down a sense of guilt, familiar to him in boyish days when about to be taken to task by the chancellor, gazed fixedly at the hard, clever face on which the afternoon sun scored the detail of each wrinkle.

Wranglers Listened To Story Of Parsifal

Rev. L. E. Wein, pastor of Emmanuel's Lutheran church read an interesting paper and lead the discussion on "Parsifal" at the meeting of the Wranglers at the Library Monday evening. Sixteen of the twenty-five members were present and the meeting was a very profitable one. At the next meeting, November 1, Prof. W. S. Hootman will have a paper on "Socialism."

Rev. Wein witnessed the production of the opera "Parsifal" in Rochester and he stated that it was the greatest opera he had ever heard. He regretted that he had not seen it produced in the German, but after all the music was the element which held him entranced. Extracts from Rev. Wein's paper are as follows:

"Though contested by some who would give it a decided Celtic origin the legend finds its first real assimilation or in fact its real poetic creation in the epic of Wolfram V. Eschenbach and hence belongs most decidedly to German and not to English literature."

"It was while at work tracing back the legend of Tannhauser for his subsequent drama of that name that Richard Wagner came across an old copy of Eschenbach's Titirel and Parsifal and to quote his own words said 'An entirely new world of poetical matter suddenly opened up before me.'"

"In Parsifal as a character we find a simple, guileless fool who, contrary to his mother's prayer and desire, leaves her heart broken in his ambition to become a knight. Coming to the castle at Non Salvat he lacks the Mitleid (sympathy) on beholding the anguish of Amphyrtas and hence is doomed for a time to rigorously atone. In Kundry we behold just the opposite of Goethe's Mephistopheles when he described himself as a part of that power which always aims at evil but ever accomplishes good. With her it is just the reverse as long as she remains under Klingsor's curse, having a willingness to do good but a tendency to do evil. Easily may we read in her character Wagner's conception of Mary Magdalene. So might we review the various characters originated by Eschenbach but by Wagner given a special christian character."

"The literary value of the drama is however not its greatest point. The production as such might not stand with Shakespeare and combat for his laurels but the intrinsic value of Parsifal lies in its wondrous musical methods and development. Herein does he stand a worthy successor to those great ones who widened the boundaries of music and struck out new paths for it—Bach, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schumann. As to the real artistic value of Parsifal there can be no doubt, but equally certain it is also that this glorious product of Wagner's old age is also his masterpiece: for never before in his whole career did music, poetry and personality thus perfectly blend. To behold it is to stand like Parsifal entranced at the unveiling of the Grail."

Tungsten Lamps Make Electric Light Much Cheaper

They have two and a half times the efficiency of the ordinary carbon lamp hitherto in general use. The filament is made of a rare metal called Tungsten, which yields an intense brilliancy at low cost. In shape and size the bulb is just like any other electric incandescent lamp. Why not try a Tungsten lamp yourself? Get one of the 40-watts and use it somewhere in your house in place of one of your carbon lamps. Then observe the great difference. Note the clear white light, exactly twice as brilliant and costing you one-fifth less for electricity. Tungsten lamps are destined to displace all others, for both store and home lighting.

A GOOD ADMINISTRATION

Is there any valid reason why Gail Hamilton should not be re-elected mayor of Coshocton? Why the Republican party should be put out of power and the Democratic party placed in the saddle—why men of no party should be given the reins?

The record of Mayor Hamilton has been an unusually good one. He has stood for a clean city and good government. He has been fair and on the square. He has been mayor of all the people, and acting as police judge no man has come before him who did not have a fair and impartial trial. He has kept his office absolutely free from personalities.

And look at the record of the Republican party—not a record of theory but of actual results—results that can be seen and felt every day. Since the city has been in Republican hands, there have been built here more than 14 miles of new sidewalks, dozens of street crossings, new sewers and better drainage, more paved streets, a new and modern fire department, equipment and building, and many more good things. These are material improvements that the taxpayer appreciates every day. Your children go to school along smooth and clean sidewalks instead of plowing through mud and slush. The streets are cleaner than ever before. This has been a busy administration: one that does things. It would be folly to change it or turn the city over to its enemies.

John Sherman once said, speaking of specie payments, that "the way to resume was to resume." It may be remarked, concerning Coshocton, that the way to get together, is to get-together. Bickering and nagging, scolding and maligning, are not the ways to bring about peace and prosperity. Holding up leading men of a community to slanderous insinuations is not generating the get-together spirit.

These beautiful days of autumn are only marred by the thought that it is getting too cold for your summer shoes.

Free Child's Remedy

What mother is not looking for something that will help her children in the little ills of life, something for the stomach trouble and the bowel trouble? Long ago she probably has become convinced that a child cannot readily swallow a pill or a tablet, and that to "break them in half and crush them" is an annoyance; that usually they work too drastically, and are nauseating and too powerful for the little one's stomach.

Any mother who will take the trouble of sending her name and address can obtain a free sample bottle of a remedy that thousands of other mothers are using and now paying for. This remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the offer of a free trial bottle is open to any mother who has not yet used it. Having used it and convinced yourself that it is what you want, you can obtain it in the future of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as so many others are doing, the free sample being simply to enable you of its merits. It is the best way to begin on it. Mrs. J. Davis of 157 W. Harrison street, Chicago, and Mrs. Mary Clifford, 1719 Coke street, Louisville, Ky., both started with a free sample and now write that they have never been without a bottle in the house since.

It is undoubtedly a great family remedy, as it is adapted to all ages, being mild and pleasant to take and yet thoroughly effective. It is especially the ideal remedy for children and women and old folks, who need something pure, mild and natural. It has the advantage of being a thorough laxative and yet contains tonic properties. Use it for the most stubborn constipation, indigestion, liver trouble, sick headache, sour stomach and such complaints with a guarantee that it will cure.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. I explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 510 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

ADVICE TO WOMEN

A Message from a Famous Beauty Specialist to Women Lacking in Energy and Vitality.

Thousands of women vainly attempt to improve their complexions and to remove blackheads, crow's feet and other blemishes through the use of cosmetics. This treatment fails because the trouble lies far deeper than the skin. They are suffering from impure and impoverished blood. This condition is in many cases due to a catarrhal condition of the whole system which finds its expression in "sallow, muddy complexion, dark-circled eyes, general weakness of the system, and perhaps most plainly in the weeping of mucous membrane that is commonly called catarrh.

In fact this whole tendency is properly speaking, Catarrh. Banish this catarrh, and the complexion will brighten, as if by magic eyes will brighten, faces become rosy and shoulders erect. Perfect beauty goes only with perfect health, and perfect health for women can only be obtained through one certain treatment—that which will cure Catarrh.

Mme. Swift, New York, the famous beauty specialist known throughout the world and an accepted authority on all relating thereto, states that the one positive and permanent relief for catarrh is Rexall Muc-Tone. Here is her letter:

"I can strongly endorse the claims made for Rexall Muc-Tone as a cure for systemic catarrh. Its tonic effects are remarkable. It builds up the strength and restores vitality. If women who are tired and run down, lacking in energy and vitality, will use Rexall Muc-Tone, they will praise as I do its strengthening and healing qualities."

Rexall Muc-Tone works through the blood, acting thus upon the mucous cells—the congestion and inflammation of which causes local catarrh. This remedy causes poison to be expelled from the system, and the blood is purified and revitalized. Thus the natural functions of the mucous cells are restored, and the membranes are cleansed and made strong. We know that Rexall Muc-Tone does relieve catarrh. We positively guarantee to refund the money paid us for this remedy in every case where the user is dissatisfied. It is a builder of vigorous health and a creator of good complexion. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Mail orders filled. It may be obtained only at our store—The Rexall Store, Siegel & Williams, Cor. Main and Fifth sts.

GOOD LECTURE AT SALVATION ARMY CITADEL

Monday night the members of the Salvation Army and quite a number of interested outsiders gathered at the Salvation Army Citadel and heard a most instructive discourse on "The Young Crusaders" delivered by Col. Margeris, the national Young People's secretary, of New York. The address was mainly for the young people, and the majority of the audience was made up of the younger men and women of the Army. The entire program was very interesting, consisting of a number of musical selections by the Colonel, assisted by Staff Captain, Widgery, known as the "Musical Wonder," who accompanies the lecturer on his tour of the country.

HALLOWEEN WILL FALL ON SUNDAY

Festival Comes Down from Ancient Traditions of Germany

Halloween modernized and popularly called Halloween, the eve or night of all hallows, or festival of All Saints, falling on the 31st of October, comes, to the sorrow of the many youths and maidens who delight in celebrating the occasion, on Sunday. This year, on account of the day, it will be celebrated on Saturday.

The festival is handed down straight from German merry-makers, who, long before the Middle Ages, celebrated the event with mask balls, etc. The holiday recalls the times of witches and incantations, and at this season the world over, it has been the custom to delve into the mystery of the future by the aid of various charms and spells. In England it was long the custom to crack nuts, duck for apples in a tub of water, and perform other harmless fire-side revelries. While the same thing may be said of Scotland, the Halloween ceremonies of that country partook of a more superstitious character. Within comparatively recent years, in America, the observance of Halloween, and the night which precedes it, spoken of by the American boy and girl as "trick tack night" has taken on a more rowdyish character, and much damage has been done by the more daring and venturesome spirits.

In the twentieth-century all mythology and traditions which originally existed in connection with Halloween have been completely forgotten, or at least ignored, but the fact remains that still, at this season of lengthening evenings the credulous dip into the mystic and the unknown and unexplained, and Halloween is the night set apart for the observance of the rites. Robert Burns has written a poem, entitled "Halloween," which is the best summary of the explanation, of now almost exploded customs.

A Woman's Beauty Depends Much on Her Figure

"No, she hasn't a pretty face, but she has a beautiful figure, and that is the thing that counts now days." So said a woman in commendation of a friend—and she was right. A woman may or may not have a pretty face and yet be able to dress attractively—but if her figure does not possess certain lines of grace she has lost that factor of a woman's charm which cannot be "replaced" or "covered up" with becoming clothes. SO THE CORSET IS MOST IMPORTANT—FOR ON THE CORSET THE FIGURE DEPENDS. We have every really "better" Corset: REDFERN, WARNER'S, NEMO, D. Hints For The Housewife

The Age's Daily Recipe

BUNS—Scald three cups of milk. When cold add one cup of sugar and one-half yeast cake dissolved in a little warm water. Stir in enough flour to make a little thicker than cake. Sprinkle with flour and set to rise over night. In the morning stir in one cup of melted butter into which has been beaten a cup of sugar. Add lemon flavoring and a cup of chopped raisins, rolled in flour. Mix in enough flour to make a dough that can be handled, put this on the pastry board and cut into buns. Lay the buns in tins and set to rise again. Bake in a moderate oven. When done, mix a little sugar and brush this over the tops of the buns before they get cold.

A woman who knows all the ins and outs of the well-dressed world tells how to scent gloves. Pour perfume in the palms of the hand or rub oil or flowers on the palms and place the gloves on the hand for several minutes until the odor penetrates them. The warmth of the hand drives the oils into the glove and good perfume will remain for many months.

At the southern Illinois holiness camp meeting held lately Mrs. Bertie Crow preached on woman's right to speak in public. She took as her text 1. Corinthians, xiv., 23-25.

Mrs. Jennie Ryder, an American woman resident of Havana, Cuba, has for ten years been carrying on a humane work in her adopted home. She organized a "band of mercy" of young men and women, who have taken, under her leadership, a firm stand, against legalized lotteries. They are beginning to make a deep impression on the government authorities.

Mrs. W. S. Peabody of Denver, has been called "mother of the Mesa Verde National Park." This park contains many interesting remains of the cliff dwellers that were discovered and Mrs. Peabody is bending every energy to have it made a national park. Before her marriage to Maj. W. S. Peabody, a retired army officer, she lived in Washington, where she held an office in the bureau of ethnology.

In the Isle of Wight much interest has been taken in the troubles in Spain, and fears have sometimes been expressed lest the young queen should involve King Alfonso in further difficulties by saying or doing anything foolish, for charming and beautiful as she is, she is utterly devoid of tact. At any rate, so it is said, and on the island she is well known, having spent a large portion of her life there.

The dutchess of Norfolk became, on the death of her father, Baroness "G. Norwalk and Herries." In this she is following the example of the late dutchess of Sutherland, who after she was created countess of Cromartie by Queen Victoria, subscribed herself "A. Sutherland and Cromartie." It is, however, unusual for a peer or peeress to use titles of different degrees in his or her signature, and Lady Yarborough's method seems preferable. She writes "Fenconberg and Convers" beneath her married name, "M. Yarborough."

A I U. chapter 130, will meet in G. A. R. Hall Wednesday evening at 7:30. Some special business is to be brought up at the meeting.

PRESIDENT TO HUNT WILDCATS

Texans Promise Great Sport For Next Four Days.

TARPON FISHING ON PROGRAM

Ranch of Brother Charley to Serve as Recreating Point on Strenuous Journey Across Continent and Back—Praise For Democratic Congressman Arouses Ire of Cecil Lyon, Republican State Leader. Taft Speaks in Shadow of Alamo.

Gregory, Tex., Oct. 19.—A program providing for a wildcat hunt, a day's tarpon fishing, motor boating, auto-mobiling, jack-rabbit chasing and golf has been arranged for the benefit of President Taft during his four days' stay at his brother's big ranch. The president arrived here determined to devote the next four days to having a good time. There have been stops on the trip, such as the three days at the Yosemite valley and the day at the Grand Canyon, which have been intended as breathing spells for the president on his 13,900-mile jaunt, but at both places Mr. Taft was accompanied by political and local commissioners who insisted on talking. At the Charles P. Taft ranch the president will be among those who appreciate his need of rest and recreation. No local committee man will be allowed within the precincts of the 100,000-acre ranch. The Taft ranch fronts on three barons on the Gulf. It is located largely on oak raising. The president's brother has provided a big strong horse for his use, and the president will do considerable riding. They do their wildcat hunting in the night, or along about dusk, when the creatures venture from the woods in search of prey. Charles P. Taft has several boards that are well known for wildcats, and local hunters stand ready to assure the president that the glory of the great African game hunter will be observed at least for one day if he will consent to join in the chase. Ducks and geese also have been to come in from the north, and the president may try his luck with them.

Speaks at Alamo. At San Antonio the president reviewed 1000 of San Antonio's school children. He delivered a speech later to a big audience on the plaza in front of the historic Alamo. The president passed through the old building in which Davy Crockett, Bowie and others sacrificed their lives and stopped once or twice to have historic spots pointed out to him. In speaking to the audience there the president said, referring to the Alamo: "This was indeed one of the cradles of American liberty. Here the people of Texas fought out their own individual liberty and then linked it with that of their people of the United States. Standing within a stone's throw of that building in which was offered up those sacred lives, one can not but lay a tribute at the feet of the state of Texas as being entitled to something more than one of the thirteen original states, for she worked out her destiny without the aid of the rest." The maddest man in Texas was Don Lyon, the Republican state boss. He was sitting just behind the president when the latter in his San Antonio speech began to praise Congressman Shelden, a Democrat, for his interest in giving an appropriation for Fort Sam Houston. "My God," exclaimed Lyon, "doesn't he know that I am making a fight against Shelden's re-election?" Lyon boarded the president's train when it pulled out of San Antonio, but he would not trust himself to enter the president's car until he had cooled off for half an hour on one of the forward platforms. Falls City got the first presidential baby kiss of the Taft trip. The president had managed to cover about 3,000 of the 13,900 miles of his jaunt without kissing a single kid, but at Falls City he was cornered. Mrs. E. S. Woolsey passed her four-month-old baby up over the rear platform railing, and the president took it in his arms. Having surrendered to that extent there was no escape, with all of Falls City cheering, and the president planted a gentle kiss on the child's cheek.

IN COSHOCTON

Every Claim Is Backed by Local Testimony. If the reader wants stronger proof than the following statement and experience of a resident of Coshocton, what can it be? Mrs. Mary A. Deeds, 245 N. Fifth-st., Coshocton, Ohio, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney complaint after I had about given up hope of ever being rid of the trouble. My health was all run down and I was subject to attacks of pain in the back and hips. When these pains came on, I had to stop work in fact, sometimes had to go to bed. When I was able to be up and around I felt weak and unsteady of condition and profuse perspiration of the kidney regions. Cold weather or greatly aggravated the trouble and I also had symptoms of drowsiness, my feet and ankles swelling so badly that I could not wear my shoes. A friend, seeing my condition, advised a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills, and they have cured me of a similar complaint. I presented this remedy at Sugar & Williams drug store and the first box brought wonderful relief. After that I steadily improved and the kidneys of Doan's Kidney Pills have been a great blessing to me. I feel that I owe my life to this remedy. I have given August 1st, 1909, as the date when I was cured of the above complaint on May 1, 1909 and advised by Dr. A. L. by ad. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMullen Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States." For further the name—Doan's—take no other.

Chesper Meets Is Idle Dream. Chicago, Oct. 19.—No hope of permanently lower prices for meat was held out by delegates to the fourth annual convention of the American Porkers' association. Led Resents Talebearing. Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 19.—An Augustan, shot and instantly killed Margaret Lane, 17, who had called the attention of the boy's mother to certain acts of misbehavior on his part. After the shooting the boy ran off to school. He says it was an accident and his story is believed by the parents of the dead girl.

BREAKS HIS RESOLUTION

Commander Peary Finds It Hard to Shun the Public. New York, Oct. 19.—Commander Robert E. Peary is soon expected to reconsider the resolve he made upon his return to civilization not to appear before the general public until after the controversy between Dr. Cook and himself should be settled. He finds, so a close friend and adviser of his said, that adherence to his original intention has thrown him directly under the dictation of Dr. Cook, who has postponed the submission of his polar data until next summer, and by so doing has postponed until that date the settlement of the question that Peary urges upon the immediate attention of a scientific board of referees. It is probable that Commander Peary will soon take the position that his submission of records and observations made on his dash to the pole to the board of managers of the National Geographical society in Washington, being the only course left open to him by Cook's delay, will absolve him from further adherence to his determination of reticence. These records he will place in the hands of the geographical society's managers today. Probably the first semi-public appearance that Peary will make will be as the guest of the Peary Arctic club at a dinner tendered in his honor.

Delegates In Yelling Match.

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.—A great parade, followed by a mass meeting of Bible school classes from nearly every state in the Union, marked the close of the last day but one of the centenary celebration of the convention of the Disciples of Christ. A scene of the like of which is seldom seen at a strictly religious convention, was enacted in the auditorium before the meeting. Members from the various states were grouped together and led by one of their number from each body, tried their best to out yell the others. The result was a conglomeration of yells and cries such as probably never have been heard in a convention of this sort.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Frohman-Hiltington Matrimonial Troubles Get Into Court. Reno, Nev., Oct. 19.—Margaret Hiltington filed suit for divorce from Daniel Frohman in the district court, giving as the cause failure to provide for her support during the last two years. The complaint simply recites this, and the fact that the plaintiff has resided in Reno more than six months and that there are no children and no community of property. No alimony is demanded. It is not thought that Mr. Frohman will make any contest.

Aviator Circles Eiffel Tower.

Juvilly, France, Oct. 19.—Aviator Lambert made an ascent here, and after going once around the track he rose to a height of 100 yards and started in the direction of Paris. Arriving there Lambert sailed over the Eiffel tower and passed over the Place St. Michael. He then started on his return here. He rounded the Eiffel tower at the height of the third story. He reentered the Juvilly track flying 150 meters high. The spectators gave him a tremendous ovation. There was a serious accident here when Blanche's aeroplane fell into a crowd and injured several women.

CAMPAIGN GROWS WARM

Hearst Makes Unkind Remarks About Republican Opponent.

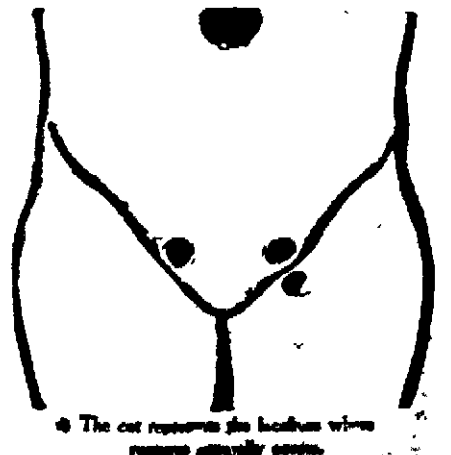

New York, Oct. 19.—William R. Hearst opened up on Mr. Bannard, the Republican candidate for mayor, for the first time. At four meetings in Harlem and the Bronx he told 8,000 people that Mr. Bannard was the appointed and anointed candidate of the noble order of Woodruffians, a knight of the checkered waistcoat.

Mr. Hearst waded into his speech-making with a vim that sent the hats of his partisans whirling towards the ceiling. His audiences wherever he went were with him uproariously.

AN ITCHING PALM

No Cure for It, Other Forms of Itching Preferable.

There is no cure for an itching palm—the money kind. Even postum, the new skin discovery, cannot help it. But when it comes to eczema, the most annoying of itching skin troubles, postum will stop the itching at once and cure the worst cases in a few days. So with hives, rash, scabies, split toes, piles and scaly scalp, all of which are different forms of eczema, accompanied by severe itching and caused by imperfect digestion and careless diet.

Postum comes in two-dollar jars, but fifty cents worth will answer in curing any of the diseases mentioned. It can be had of any druggist. C. E. Anderson makes a specialty of it. That results are immediate will be amply demonstrated overnight by the use of the experimental sample which the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City, will send free by mail, in plain wrapper, to any one who will write for it.

PROOF OF A ASTONISHING OCCURRENCE

IT IS HERE AND MANY FROM A DISTANCE ARE WRITING

When skeptical people are told of some astonishing event they will say: "I don't believe it." Therefore, it is always desirable to have good proof of an occurrence that is out of the ordinary. Proofs for the "don't believe it" class are right here, as scores of people of this county have been cured of chronic stomach, liver and kidney troubles rheumatism and nervous weakness, within the past few months, after taking a few bottles of the wonderful Root Juice medicine.

Person after person has called on the local agent to tell of their cure, and many are writing from different parts of the country and telling of wonderful cures Root Juice is making. Mrs. C. H. Davis wrote from Zanesville, Ohio, and said: "I want to say a few words of praise for Root Juice. For over three years I was a great sufferer from stomach troubles. I doctored with some of our best doctors, without relief. They said I had cancer of the stomach; but whatever it was, four bottles of Root Juice has completely cured me." A remedy that will cure a severe stomach trouble, that was pronounced cancer by some of the best doctors, is certainly a wonder and well deserves the praise of every one. The Root Juice Medicine Company, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has hundreds of testimonials from people whose word cannot be doubted, but local testimonials are so numerous that any one will be convinced by calling at C. E. Anderson's drug store.

Metafore

Suppose you faced an audience of ten thousand people—every one of them with money in their pockets—all ready to do business. Suppose you had the platform—with everyone of these ten thousand people ready to listen attentively to what you would say to them. Would you keep silent? Wouldn't you be foolish if you turned your back and walked off the platform without letting these people know what kind of business proposition you were ready to make to them? Well, that's exactly the kind of big business opportunity that is open to you every day. The audience includes every reader of the AGE. You've time to make up your mind what you will say to them. Are you going to miss your chance? Put your offer in a Munnimaker ad—and see that the ad gets in in time for tomorrow's AGE.

JOY UNBOUNDED IS PITTSBURG'S SHARE

Ballplayers Given Greatest Ovation in History of Game.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 19.—Manager Clarke and his Pirate crew were given an ovation such as no other baseball team has ever been accorded. The whole town and surrounding country turned out to do them honor, first with a parade, which wound up at Forbes Field, where the checks were presented the players by Congressman J. W. Burke. It was a nondescript mob which followed the 12 bands and the hundreds of autos carrying the players and city officials. Three military organizations lent color to the procession, and half a dozen political clubs with banners formed in line. The streets were jammed with people and the noise was worse than a battle.

The largest crowd had gathered at Forbes Field, where standing room was at a premium. In the center of the diamond a stage had been erected. When the procession reached the park the crowd sang "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." Mayor Mages attempted to call the meeting to order, but he might as well have ordered the Fed sea to turn back.

Fred Clarke made an answer, thanking the fans for their support of the team and his happiness at having lived to be the leader of a team winning the world's championship. Hans Wagner received a tremendous ovation. When called on for a speech he simply grinned at the thousands of people facing him. His smile proved a winner, and the thunders of applause could be heard across the river.

NO REQUISITION FOR COBB

Governor's Absence Delays Arrest of Detroit Ballplayer.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 19.—Ty Cobb is safe from arrest for a time, though Cuyahoga county officials have issued papers calling for his apprehension on one indictment charging him with cutting to wound, as a result of his alleged attack on George Stanfield, watchman of the Hotel Euclid. Former Mayor McKisson, Cobb's counsel, offered to produce Cobb here Thursday without process, but his offer was rejected. Now the sheriff has found that Governor Harmon is in the south on a tour which is to last till next Friday, and that it is impossible in his absence from Ohio to obtain requisition papers not open to attack.

CENSUS SUPERVISOR A BUSY MAN

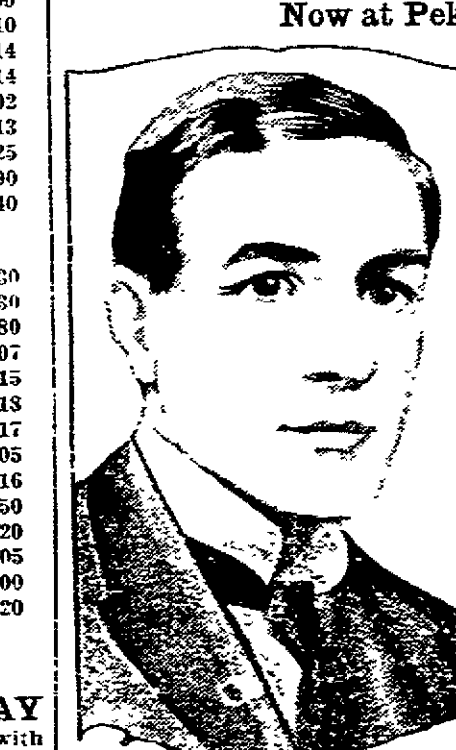

Census Supervisor Given will certainly have his hands full in this district. He will have the selection of two hundred enumerators to select from and it is evident that while many will call, only a few of them can be chosen.

"I expect to be called to locate here almost any time now," said Mr. Given, Saturday, and whenever I get the word I will give up my position at Columbus and come to Wooster. I am answering a whole lot of correspondences at Columbus right now, and am hearing from many who are desirous of being chosen as enumerators."—Wooster Republican.

Probable New

Envoy to China

Now at Pekin

HENRY P. FLETCHER

It is believed in Washington that Henry P. Fletcher, charge d'affaires at the American legation in Pekin, will be appointed minister. Mr. Fletcher is a native of Pennsylvania and was appointed to the post of secretary of the legation under W. W. Rockhill, then minister on April 25, 1907. When it was decided to promote Mr. Rockhill to the post of ambassador to Russia Mr. Fletcher was made charge d'affaires and since then has been on duty day and night in Pekin. He has carried on the extremely trying negotiations over the Hankow-Szechuen railroad loan and has given evidence of ability which has impressed both President Taft and Secretary of State Knox.

Hanley Describes Change Of Farmers' Financial Condition

Doubtful Whether Wheat or Flour Will Advance to a Higher Figure — Feed will Remain High.

BY T. J. HANLEY.

Just look at that picture! It represents the speculators' opinion at different periods. Aug. 15th, he is down on his knees and "begs" the farmer to sell his wheat. We are indebted to the firm of J. F. Zahn & Co. of Toledo for this excellent illustration. The artist seems to strike the keynote to the wheat situation in regard to speculator and farmer.

We have called your attention to this condition at various times and pointed to many incidents showing the changing attitude of the farmer now compared to a short time ago when he was compelled to sell his wheat at 45c per bushel. He worked day and night for a living and then often found the sheriff at the door to take the farm. Oh, yes, things are changing and will change until the end of time but, the part that should interest us is, "How much further will the pendulum swing?" The ability of the manufacturers to pay sufficient wages to meet the continued advance of food in nearly every city in the United States is increasing annually and if we suppose our town will reach 20,000 in the next few years, it will need twice the amount of farm products. Yet, the number of acres in our country will remain the same. We will then come to intensive farming.

Coshocton mills are paying $1.15 for wheat. One year ago, the price was 95c and two years ago, $1.00. Considering the condition of the roads and the nearness to harvest, the wheat receipts are light.

CORN

The present price of new corn seems to meet the views of the majority, yet there are not many offering their corn for sale. There is quite a difference of opinion existing in regard to the percentage of corn shrinkage and nearly every day some one asks if we know the exact percent. There is no fixed rule as it all depends on the quality and condition of the corn at the time you weigh it. Price new corn 50c, old corn is nearly all marketed. It still retails at 85c and 80c per bushel. However new corn is being bought and it is only a short time until it fills the place of the old.

FEED

It is useless for feeders to expect further reduction in the price of feed this year. In fact it looks useless to expect lower prices at any time while the prices of grain remains high. Local price of bran is $1.35 and $1.50 for midds. While the local demand is poor, the eastern demand for these feeds is growing very pronounced.

FLOUR

The price of flour advanced 20c per barrel this week, compelling the grocery trade to retail standard brands $1.65 per sack. This advance in flour was rather delayed in making its appearance as wheat advanced twice before without any corresponding change in flour. Some of the milling fraternity at the present time can not think it is possible for wheat or flour to make further advance while others are fearful that a repetition of last year will be seen. However there has been no Patten so far this year. It may be possible there will be one and presuming that will be the case, will that increase the supplies for wheat? The mills can not make flour out of the kind of wheat speculators deal in. Their customers want something more substantial so we all have to depend entirely on the real grain.

the window was securely fastened, little thought of possible danger.

While it is probable that the screen was at first fastened, the supposition is that the child succeeded in unloosening the catch. The theory is that the child was leaning out to look for his ring, as the little one's ring was found on the sidewalk just after the accident.

When the mother saw her child fall all self-possession left her. She rushed from the room hysterically screaming. The elevator was being painted. The mother unable to get down stairs, was distracted and her pitiable screams could be heard throughout the entire building.

When the elevator reached the third floor the woman could not restrain herself in her anxiety to reach her injured babe. She taxed the elevator boy to his utmost physical power to restrain her from injuring herself during their downward flight.

When the mother burst out of the elevator, her crying child in the arms of Mr. Bartholomew met her sight. With the glad cry, "Thank God, he still breathes, my poor baby," she grasped her suffering little one to her breast and tried to soothe its crying.

FRESNO GRANGE LOOKED BACK INTO THE PAST

The Fresno Grange held an unusually interesting meeting at the Grange hall Monday evening. It was an evening of reminiscences and memory floated back to the time when spinning wheels and homespun clothes were in vogue. The members are dressed in antique costumes. Miss Cornea Daugherty, the Grange Lecturer, wearing an outfit which belonged to her grandmother. Mrs. Jos. A. Lockard helped to enliven the occasion with music. Others who participated were: Allan Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis Jr., and Mrs. Wm. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wyler, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Rev. McCrea, Miss Bernice Hamilton and John S. Moore. Stories were told of the olden times and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed, though the attendance was not large. The next meeting will be held Monday evening, Nov. 1.

A Sailor's Compliment.
Through all the years they were together Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont lived for her husband, as before her marriage she had lived for her father. Her brilliant mind, her heart and her hands were constantly busy in her husband's service and a gallant sailor's compliment shows that her devotion was widely recognized. During the civil war, when Admiral Porter had command of the federal fleet on the Mississippi, his flagship was the steamer Benton, named after Mrs. Fremont's father. The admiral named the little tender of the flagship Jessie Benton Fremont, and he wrote to Mrs. Fremont his explanation.
"You have always sailed close to your husband and your father."

DURTY KIDNEYS CAUSE BACKACHE

A real surprise awaits every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble who takes several doses of Pape's Diuretic. Many in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism pains, heart palpitations, dizziness sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, lack of energy and all symptoms of out-of-order kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, offensive and discolored water and other bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect kidney or urinary disorder or feel any rheumatism, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

It is needless to feel miserable and worried, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and urinary system, distributing its cleansing, healing and strengthening influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and complete the cure before you realize it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only confident results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days treatment will make any one feel fine.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—fifty-cent treatment—any drug store—anywhere in the world.

OIL FIELDS TO BE CONNECTED

The Cooperdale, Blissfield, Bloomfield and Meimick oil field are to be connected up with the main line of the Buckeye Pipe line, which runs through Cooperdale early in the spring, and the output of all these fields which has come to be no mean amount will be carried to the headquarters of the company.

For several weeks the Buckeye Co. has had surveyors and contractors looking over the fields and it was definitely announced Tuesday that they would connect these fields with their main line. The work of laying the pipe will not probably begin, however until spring when the weather opens up.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

Bad Stomach Causes Unsightly Complexions. C. E. Anderson Has a Remedy

Bad stomachs means bad blood, unattractive skin.

Why? The stomach in a healthy condition separates the nutritious matter from the food and gives it to the blood to supply the entire body with nourishment.

If the stomach is not in a healthy condition it does not separate from the food the nutritious matters and it passes off with the waste.

Thus the blood is impoverished and has not sufficient nourishment to supply the muscles, skin and body generally.

If you have belching of gas, distress after eating, nausea, biliousness, nervousness or foul breath, then your stomach is wrong and you want the best prescription for stomach troubles the world has ever known.

You want M-o-n-a tablets the great stomach remedy which C. E. Anderson guarantees to cure indigestion, no matter of how long standing, or money back.

Relieves stomach distress at once. M-o-n-a is sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Coshocton by C. E. Anderson's for 50 cents a large box. Test samples from Booth's M-o-n-a, Buffalo N. Y.
